Presentation of your case to the Tumor Conference

Name, Surname: _____ Date of Birth: _____

Dear Patient,

In May 2007 various clinics and institutes at the UKE were amalgamated with the aim of improving the prevention, diagnosis, therapy and aftercare of tumor diseases. This initiative is sponsored by the Hubertus Wald Foundation, hence the name: "Hubertus-Wald Tumor Center, University Cancer Center Hamburg (UCCH)". Various oncological practices and clinics in and around Hamburg are collaborating with the UCCH. Further information can be found at www.ucch.de.

In addition to the general data protection information provided by the Martini-Klinik as the controller responsible for processing your data (available for download at Documents (martini-klinik.de/datenschutz)), we would like to provide you with additional information about the data processing that takes place in the course of the Tumor Board.

The goal and commitment of the UCCH is to provide you with the best individual recommendation for diagnosis and treatment based on the latest medical knowledge and to make a decision together with you. Various professional groups and specialist disciplines (oncology, surgery, radiotherapy, psychology, radiology, general practitioners, nursing staff, etc.) work closely together to achieve this. External members of contractually affiliated cooperation partners of the UCC Hamburg from the aforementioned professional groups also regularly take part in the tumor conference. This is always the case if there is a treatment context for one of the patients presented. Tumor conferences are held for the individual patients, which are attended by doctors from different disciplines depending on the clinical picture. These conferences can comprise up to 30 people in total, as trainee doctors and documentation staff are also present. All participants are subject to medical confidentiality.

Your consent is required so that the participants in the tumor conferences can be provided with the necessary information about your illness and the findings for their recommendation. It refers to the transmission of the necessary disease data from your treating physician to the participants of the UCCH tumor conference. The presentation of patients in the tumor conference is name-related.

The presentation in the tumor conference can also be made personally by your attending physician via a secure data protection-compliant data connection as part of a video conference. Under no circumstances will the video-based tumor conference be recorded by the UCC Hamburg or the UKE or any of the affiliated participants.

Declaration of consent for presentation at the tumor conference of the University Cancer Center at the UKE

The physician in charge of my case has informed me – and I consent to this fact – that my medical, social and personal data may be transmitted by name to the University Cancer Center Hamburg (UCCH) at the University Medical Center Hamburg-Eppendorf, to the extent necessary to obtain a therapy recommendation by the interdisciplinary Tumor Conference. For this purpose, I release my attending physician from the duty of confidentiality.

I can revoke this consent to UCCH at any time with effect for the future without any disadvantages for my treatment. Any processing and transmission of my data prior to my revocation remains permissible.
